BEAUTIFUL / DRAMATIC / HISTORICAL

Narvik is so much more than just beautiful nature! Narvik, as the first industrial community in Northern Norway, expanded in synchronisation with the construction of the Ofoten Railway. A town centre was formed and its unique culture was (and still is) influenced by Swedish navvies, British engineers and sailors from across the world.

The iron-ore dominates the history of Narvik and in April/May 1940 Narvik became the focus of the world's attention. After half a year of uneventful war Hitler attacked Denmark and Norway. For two months a bitter battle for Narvik and the iron ore raged between the invading German forces and the French, Polish and Norwegian troops on land, and a considerable British flotilla at sea. The battle meant the destructions of the iron-ore shipping installations and of the town.

The winters can be cold and harsh, but for those of you that always look for opportunities – the magical and mystical northern light, can best be experienced on such cold and clear winter days. Around the middle of November until the beginning of January, you can see the Killer whales. They arrive every year to Ofoten to feed on the herrings. Skiing is also plentiful and during peak season from February till April, Narvikfjellet in Narvik is a unique location for such activities.

WRECK DIVING IN NARVIK

WRECK DIVING*

During the dramatic days in early April 1940, more than 50 planes and 46 ships were shot down or sunk.

As a result Narvik is now one of the most exciting places in the world for wreck diving, especially for those interested in war ships. Here they remain as memories of the battles that caused 39 ships to be sunk at Narvik harbour.

Destination Narvik recommends that divers bring their own equipment when planning a trip to Narvik. Narvik does not have rental for diving equipment. Destination Narvik also recommends to visit the War Museum in Narvik before Diving. Contact Destination Narvik for more information.*

LKAB

LKAB iron-ore transshipment complex in Narvik

The Swedish iron-ore company LKAB chose Narvik as one of their main harbours for the export of iron-ore. LKAB's products are transported from Kiruna in Northern Sweden and shipped via Narvik to the rest of the world. The harbour is strategically a very important part of the process (supply) chain and even more important for Narvik's existence and dramatic history.

Upgrading of the Kiruna-Narvik section of the railway to accommodate a 30-tonne axle load will be completed in 2010, by which time the new harbour will also be operational. The ore trains will consist of 68 cars, each loading 100 tonnes, for a total payload of 6,800 tonnes as opposed to 4,100 tonnes at present. The heavier trains and greater volumes will necessitate a major structural overhaul of the harbour area.

In the summer time, guided tours by bus from the tourist office are available. For groups wanting to visit LKAB in Narvik, or the mines in Kiruna Sweden, please contact the tourist office in Narvik.

Organised activities, or on your own

Welcome to Narvik. In order to ensure that your stay in our town lives up to your expectations we would like to give you a few tips.

Narvik is a small destination so some of the activities you may want to take part in, have to be pre-booked. Examples are Sipas Adventures, Orca Safari, fishing trips and sightseeing by bus.

Please double check with the tour operator or the Tourist office if you are not sure and that way you don't end up disappointed. If you need some ideas for events, activities or group activities please contact the Tourist Office at Destination Narvik for advice and inspiration.

There are several ATM machines around town, but should you require the services of a bank the opening hours are from 09.00 – 15.00 (Monday – Friday), Saturday and Sunday closed. Public transport in Narvik is bus, but not all destinations run regularly.

If you are staying for a few days without transport and want to have the freedom to experience some of the fantastic nature of the surrounding area, we strongly recommend that you hire a car. From September through to May the mountain crossings are likely to have snow – so please take this into consideration when driving to Norway. When in Narvik always carry some Norwegian money as shops in Narvik town only accept Norwegian currency and credit cards. Also be aware that not all supermarkets do not accept credit cards.

Always check the weather before travelling to your next destination. In Northern Norway the weather can change very quickly, even in the summer months the Tourist office suggests that you bring some warm clothes. Be aware that the distances in Northern Norway are vast. As an example it takes a good 12 hours to drive from Narvik to the North Cape. North of the Arctic Circle the season for the midnight sun is 1/6 – 31/7 and for the Northern Light usually good from September til April.

Good idea to check weather conditions when wanting to make a trip with the cable car at Narvik-fjellet. Always come prepared for all types of weather conditions. The tourist office in Narvik, helping our guests with local information. will be happy to assist with any questions.

Ofoten Museum

The Ofoten Museum is situated close to the town centre of Narvik. It is located in the old NSB railway administration building that dates back to 1902, and displays exhibitions from the local cultural history.

Traditionally, the people of the Ofoten region made a living from a combination of fishing and agriculture. Modern times arrived with the building of the Ofotbanen railway towards the end of the 1800's. In order to extract iron-ore from the mines in the Kiruna area, a railway leading to an ice-free port was necessary so that the iron-ore could be shipped to Europe and other parts of the world. The railway was completed in 1902, together with the new city of Narvik.

The Museum is set in beautiful natural surroundings and houses cultural, historical and theme exhibitions, an audio-visual show, films, a basic café and a small museum shop. Free parking.

Ballangen Museum

Ballangen Museum presents the extensive mining activities that have been going on in the borough ever since the 1600's. The local mining and prospecting operations are documented with the help of exhibits and photos.

The most comprehensive mining operations were carried out by Bjørkåsen Gruver AS (Ltd.) who began with test operations in 1911. The mining company was then established in 1913 and was in operation until 1964. In its heyday, the company employed approximately 450 people. It was largely iron pyrite and copper ore that was extracted from depths down to about 420 metres below the main gallery.

The museum also displays exhibits showing fishing, agriculture, housekeeping and school and cultural life.

*“It is true and well documented that by giving people a new experience or letting them discover a new place – it will feed their creativity, stimulate their senses and inspire new ideas.
We recommend that one of the meeting/conference breaks is untraditional, giving the participants the opportunity to gain new impressions. It could be anything from a trek in the countryside, fishing in the lakes or at sea, a training session in the indoor climbing hall, speed and exhilaration in the ski slope or a trip on the fjord at 40 knots in a RIB”.*

EASY ACCESS TO AN ARCTIC EXPERIENCE

HOW TO TRAVEL TO NARVIK

When travelling to Northern Norway, Narvik provides you with the perfect starting point. Situated in the stunning "Ofoten" region Narvik is easily accessible by car, boat, air and train. Its close proximity to Sweden is an added advantage giving you the opportunity to explore both nature and history.

For those of you that want to get that small town feeling of Northern Norway – Narvik is the place. It has plenty of facilities whether you want to go shopping, visit museums, walk in the mountains, ride the cable car to the mountain restaurant to enjoy the view or just chilling out with a good Cappuccino. Narvik's history goes back just over 100 years to when the Navvies built the railway and Narvik was founded. The Second World War is also an important part of Narvik's history.

There are daily departures/arrivals between Harstad/Narvik Airport (Evenes) and Oslo, and from there you can catch corresponding flights to both national and international destinations. Flying time to Oslo is approx 1, 5 hours. Airlines: SAS Braathens and Norwegian. Driving time from Evenes to Narvik is just over an hour. You can also catch a flight from Stockholm to Kiruna in Sweden and then take the train or bus from Kiruna to Narvik.

Widerøe is a subsidiary of SAS Braathens and they have daily departures out of Evenes to domestic destinations.

They also have flights to and from Bodø and flights from Tromsø to Narvik town Airport. Flying time approximately forty minutes.

Hurtigruten (the world famous coastal steamer) cruises the stunning Norwegian coastline and makes several stops on the journey, from some of which you can easily travel onwards to Narvik by bus. As an example you can travel on Hurtigruten to Svølær in Lofoten and from there take the Lofast Express bus to Narvik which takes about 3.5 hours. Hurtigruten also docks in Harstad and Tromsø where there are busses to Narvik.

If you are a lover of trains there are two ways of getting to Narvik. There are two daily departures from Oslo to Fauske where you then change to a bus for the last leg of the journey to Narvik. Alternatively you can take the train directly to/from Narvik via Sweden. There are three daily departures and the journey time from Narvik – Boden is about 5 hours and from Boden to Stockholm or Gothenburg, about 17 hours. Once in Narvik, if you just want to take the train or bus to Kiruna for the day it takes 2, 5 hours and the first part of the journey along the Ofot fjord is spectacular. Before you arrive in Kiruna you will travel through Abisko, and the Abisko National Park is well worth a stop. There is also an airport bus from Kiruna airport in Sweden to Narvik.

The areas around Narvik are excellent for walking. You can bring your own tent or walk from cabin to cabin along marked tracks.

If you are planning to spend some time in the region we recommend that you either bring your own car or hire one. This will give you a unique possibility to discover and explore our wild, scenic and varied nature as well as visit historic sites. Destination Narvik will be more than happy to help you with information on what you need before you set off and where to go. It's also important to know that the currency for Norway is the Norwegian Kroner* Norway is not a part of the EU.
